

Association for Spirituality and Mental Health

The Association for Spirituality and Mental Health has evolved out of four successful international conferences on spirituality and mental health, all held in Ottawa, Ontario, Canada. The conferences were co-chaired by the Department of Psychiatry of the University of Ottawa and the Ontario Multifaith Council on Spiritual and Religious Care.

The Association was launched in 2007 at the Third International Conference on Spirituality and Mental Health, held at Saint Paul University, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada.

MISSION

The Mission of ASMH is to promote interaction, collaboration, education, research, care and advocacy in spirituality and mental health. We strive to be as diverse as possible, with members from across Canada and other countries as well as various faith and ethnic groups, various disciplines, representing both consumers and mental health professionals.
